<tr>
<td>FINE ARTS THEATER</td>
<td>All are invited to hear a presentation on the Bracero Program and view a screening of “Harvest of Loneliness” about migrant workers who were imported by the U.S. government from Mexico between 1942 to 1964. According to HarvestOfLonliness.com, the Bracero Program was one of the largest state managed migrations in history. The film contends the Bracero Program was “established to replace an alleged wartime labor shortage.” However, “research reveals that the program intended to undermine farmwork unionization.” The film also looks at the lives of wives and families left in villages that were virtually emptied of men. The speakers will be Dr. Gilbert Gonzalez is Professor Emeritus in the Chicano/Latino Studies Department at the University of California, Irvine. Also speaking will be Dr. Vivian Price is Assistant Professor of Interdisciplinary Studies and Coordinator of Labor Studies at California State University, Dominguez Hills.</td>

| TUESDAY, OCTOBER 4 @ 2:30 | Film & Discussion “The Great Depression, A Job at Ford’s” |
| A-6 (Northeast corner of campus) | Per IMDb.com, this film looks at “Henry Ford [who] controlled the most important company in the most important industry in the booming American economy. His offer of high wages in exchange for hard work attracted workers to Detroit, but it began to come apart when Ford hired a private police force to speed up production and spy on employees. After the depression hit in 1929, these workers faced a new, grim reality as unemployment skyrocketed.” The film will be followed by a discussion on the current job crisis. |
