TAKE THE NEW ROAD WEST TO YOUR FUTURE Long Awaited Road Connect to Jefferson Opens

College Boulevard, connecting West Los Angeles College to Jefferson, opens in February, announced Dr. Rose Marie Joyce, Interim President of West Los Angeles College. The road is 1.4 miles west of the corner of Rodeo (which merges to Jefferson) and LaCienega.

“This make the college more accessible to residents in our service area to our north and east,” explained Dr. Joyce.

“Additionally, it should help to relieve some of the student traffic flow on Overland Avenue.” (The college’s other entrance is on Overland Avenue, south of Jefferson.) On that note, Dr. Joyce continued that the college has taken steps to discourage students and others from using the new road as a cut through between Jefferson and Overland.

To make this long desired road possible, the college used voter approved construction bond funds to acquire the land and to construct the road. Now that construction is complete, the Los Angeles Community College District will be able to sell the unused parcel of land directly adjacent to the road. The proceeds from the land sale will go toward future campus renovations and enhancements.
